Denise Millard Named Vice President of International Business Development for L-3 Aviation Products

PHOENIX, January 12, 2011 – L-3 announced today that Denise Millard has been named vice president of international business development for the L-3 Aviation Products (L-3 AP) business area. Ms. Millard previously held the position of vice president of the Customer Group for ACSS since September 2004. ACSS is an L-3 Communications and Thales joint venture company and is one of four divisions that make up L-3 AP, along with Avionics Systems, Aviation Recorders and Electroynamics, Inc.

In her new role, Ms. Millard is responsible for developing an international presence for L-3 AP. She will be responsible for formulating and overseeing the execution of entry strategies into international markets by identifying and leading the negotiation of partnerships and alliances and other business opportunities for L-3 AP businesses.

Ms. Millard has over 20 years of experience in the aerospace sector. Prior to her previous position at ACSS, she was director of marketing and strategy for Thales' Avionics Regional and Business Aircraft division after serving as its director of sales for the Americas. Before Thales, Ms. Millard was manager of completion sales for Global Express with Bombardier Aerospace. She also served in the Canadian Armed Forces, primarily in technical capacities with the Maritime Air Group.

Ms. Millard studied business at St. Mary's University in Halifax, Nova Scotia, Canada, where she graduated summa cum laude.

Headquartered in New York City, L-3 Communications employs over 62,000 people worldwide and is a prime contractor in C<sup>3</sup>ISR (Command, Control, Communications, Intelligence, Surveillance and Reconnaissance) systems, aircraft modernization and maintenance, and government services. L-3 is also a leading provider of a broad range of electronic systems used on military and commercial platforms. The company reported 2009 sales of $15.6 billion.
